

At Colby, Kansas, a Studebaker Six set the remarkable record of 41.44 actual miles per U.S. gallon of gasoline. The test was conducted as a feature of a tractor show held in that city. Fourteen drivers entered into the contest to see which could drive the Studebaker Six the farthest on a measured half gallon of gasoline. The winner achieved 20.72 miles on his gallon, others ranged down to 10.3 miles for the half gallon. All tests were made with the same car and the radical difference in mileage—from 41 to 20 miles to the gallon—can be explained only by the variation in driving habits.

APPEAL MUST BE ALLOWED

CONVICTION MUST BE QUASHED

SIK YUE CLUB CASE

FULL TEXT OF THE JUDGMENTS DELIVERED THIS MORNING.

Judgment quashing a conviction returned by the Second Police Magistrate, Central Magistracy, was given in Full Court this morning in the appeal by 13 Chinese who were arrested in the Sik Yue Club, 508-10, Queen's Road West, on August 6, and fined by the Magistrate — two as keepers of a common gaming house, and the others as players in a common gaming house.

CHIEF JUSTICE'S FINDING

In his judgment the Chief Justice (Sir Joseph H. Kemp, K.C.) said:—

I think that the case stated fails to raise an obvious question of law, i.e., that arising on section 11 of the Gambling Ordinance. I, therefore, think that it should be sent back to the Magistrate for amendment requesting him (1) to say whether he finds the three facts necessary to bring section 11 into operation, and (2) if he does find those facts then to add to the case the questions whether section 11 provides for presumptive proof of user as a common gaming house for the purpose of a charge of keeping on the occasion of the entry under the warrant. As, however, my learned brother and I are, unfortunately, not in agreement on this point, the case will be sent back and we must deal with it as it stands.

Three Points.

Three questions are put in the stated case. The first is whether there was any evidence on which the Magistrate could find that commission was charged. I think that there was, i.e., Chui Nam's evidence that the first defendant asked for commission and that the fourth defendant paid $1.20 which was placed in a cigarette tin in front of the first defendant (depositions, p. 3).

The second question is "whether (proof of) previous user is necessary before the premises could be held to be opened, kept or used as a (common) gaming house." This question cannot be answered by a simple affirmative or negative. I shall deal with it first on the assumption that section 11 of the Gambling Ordinance, 1891, does not apply in this case.

It is clear, I think, from R. v. Davies (1897), 2 Q.B. 193, and Martin v. Benjamin (1907), 1 K.B. 64, that an isolated instance of the use of premises for such purposes as playing an unlawful game or "exercising" a lottery does not amount to using or keeping the premises for any such purpose. I am not, however, prepared to say that the prosecution must, in all cases, directly prove an actual instance or instances of previous user. I can quite imagine a case in which the mere arrangement, sitting up, notices and appearance of a place would entitle a Magistrate to infer that it was kept and used for the purpose of playing a game or games of the classes referred to in section 2 (1) of the Gambling Ordinance.

I now pass for the moment to the third question in the stated case, i.e., whether there was any evidence on which the Magistrate could find that there was previous user. I think that there was not. The facts which he cites do not seem to me to support that inference, even when they are regarded cumulatively. I think that these facts neither amount to proof of actual previous user nor bring the case within what I may, perhaps, call the self-evidence class of case referred to at the end of paragraph three above.

Section II of Gambling Ordinance — 1891.

This, however, does not dispose of the matter. There remains section II of the Gambling Ordinance, 1891. I think that that section provides for presumptive proof of user as a common gaming house for all purposes and not only for the purpose of the conviction of persons charged with playing. The words are, "Evidence . . . that the place is used . . . and that the persons . . . were playing." It thus, unless the presumption is rebutted, dispenses with the necessity for any proof of actual previous user. The Magistrate, however, did not rely on this section. It is not raised in the stated case and there are no definite findings that the place in question was suspected of being a common gaming house, that it was entered under a warrant issued under the Ordinance, or that implements of gambling, i.e., dice and counters, were found there.

It may be that he must have found if he had directed his mind to the point, but, so far as the case stated is concerned, he did not do so.

For these reasons I think that the appeal must be allowed. Mr. Justice R. E. Lindsell concurs. The Puisne Judge (Mr. R. E. Lindsell) said:—

It is on the following grounds that I hold with the greatest diffidence that this case should not be remitted to the Magistrate for amendment. Were the case so sent back, it is quite obvious that the Police Magistrate would include the necessary findings of fact to bring section 11 of the Gambling Ordinance into operation. Indeed, these facts are sufficiently disclosed by unchallenged evidence in the record, but I do not think that at this stage any such amendment or addition to the case stated as is likely to provide the respondent with a new and unthought for weapon should on principle be allowed.

The effect of Section 11 was not apparently relied on by the Magistrate, it was naturally not raised by appellants' Counsel, and it is possible that Mr. Fitzroy would not have argued it had not we ourselves first raised it.

Had it been thought essential to respondents' case to secure this amendment, application to amend

GANDHI DISSENTS

LORD SANKEY'S REPORT.

ONE CHAMBER

OPPOSED SPECIAL REPRESENTATION.

R gby, Yesterday. In the Indian Round Table Federal Structure Committee today, when the draft report on Federal Legislature was examined, Lord Sankey paid a warm tribute to eminent Civil Servants without whose assistance, he said, his duties as Chairman would have been impossible. He wanted future generations of Indians to know to whom they owed so much of the new constitution.

The report was accepted, with a few amendments, and the Committee adjourned till Wednesday, when the report on the Federal Court will be examined.

A note of dissent was received from Mr. Gandhi, who adheres to the view that one chamber would be the best. He says he would support Sir Mirza Ismail's proposal for a Federal Council, if such a body was an advisory body. Congress, he states, was opposed to the special representation of certain interests as recommended in the report, and to nomination by the Viceroy in special cases, but specialists should be given facilities to address the Chamber on required occasions. Regarding certain paragraphs about the States, he reserved his opinion and adhered to the proposal of indirect election, or election through delegates using the villages as units.

These views were noted.—British Wireless Service.

Chinese reports from Chinchow allege that the Japanese are attempting to capture Tung-liao, in West Manchuria, in co-operation with Mongol irregulars. They assert that four Japanese armoured trains, loaded to capacity with Japanese soldiers and Mongol irregulars, arrived at noon on November 1 two miles from Tung-liao, and started bombarding the city, killing five and wounding scores of people.

A Japanese aeroplane is alleged to have circled over the city gate, firing a machine-gun and causing numerous casualties.

The Japanese deny knowledge of the affair, but state that owing to the great prevalence of banditry, armoured trains have been sent to the Saupingka-Taonan railway, in order to suppress irregulars, and not to co-operate with them.—Reuter.

INDIAN TAILORS' DISPUTE CASE.

In Full Court this morning, the Chief Justice (Sir Joseph H. Kemp, K.C.) and the Puisne Judge (Mr. Justice R. E. Lindsell) granted leave of appeal in what is known as the Indian Tailors' Dispute case.

On October 23, Mr. F. C. Jenkin, K.C. (instructed by Mr. A. el Arculli) made an ex parte application before the Full Court for leave to appeal against the judgment given by the Puisne Judge in favour of the plaintiff.

In that action the plaintiff claimed the sum of $344.21 as money paid by him on behalf of the defendant, 1931, at the defendant's request. Mr. Justice Lindsell found that the claim as it stood was maintainable, and the plaintiff was entitled to succeed.

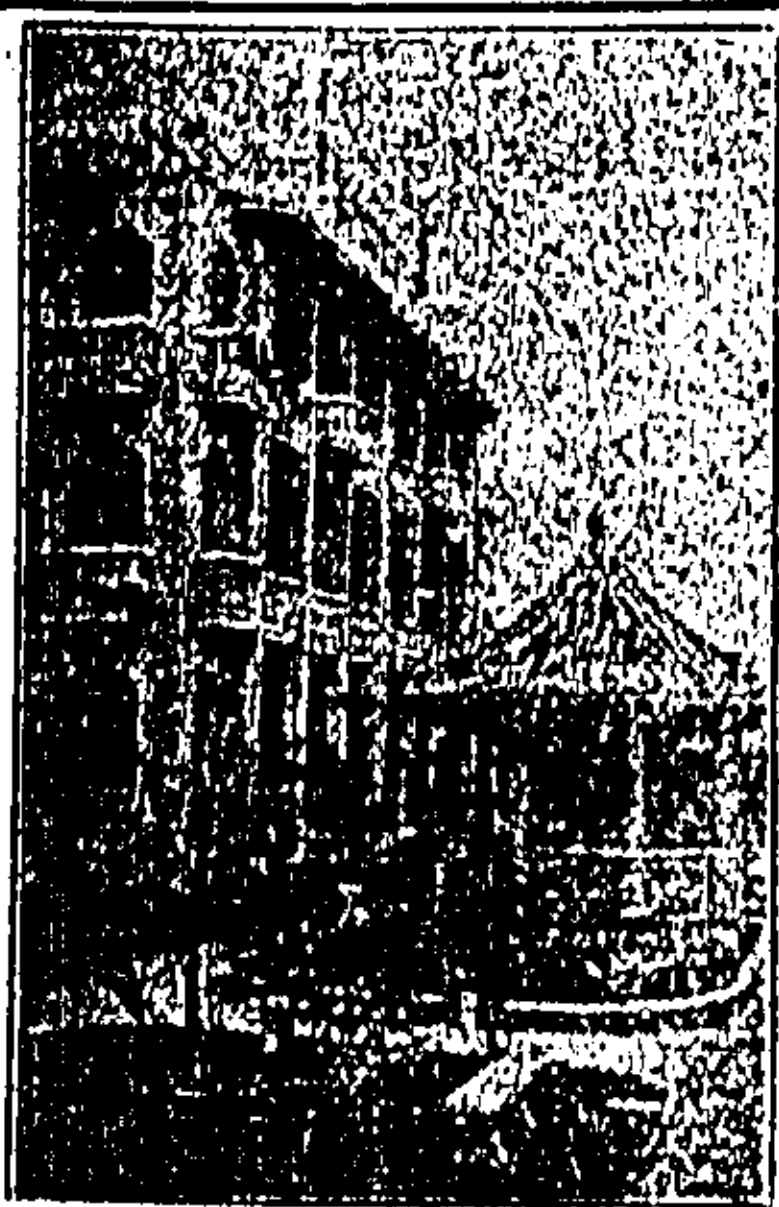

In making his ex parte application for leave to appeal before the Full Court on October 23, Mr. Jenkin, for the appellant-defendant, submitted various grounds, on law, as sufficient substance to justify the application being granted.

When the case was called this morning, Mr. A. M. L. Soares (instructed by Mr. M. A. da Silva), appeared for the respondent-plaintiff, and did not offer any argument against the granting of Mr. Jenkin's application for leave to appeal, the Chief Justice having indicated that the Court was satisfied that it was a case for appeal.

Their Lordships, in the absence of opposition to Mr. Jenkin's application, granted leave of appeal, and, with the mutual agreement of Counsel engaged in the case, adjourned the matter sine die with liberty to apply for a date for the hearing of the appeal.

"SONG OF THE WEST."

Ray Enright, who directed Warner Bros.' latest all-colour, singing, dancing Vitaphone picture, "Song of the West," now at the Queen's Theatre, was born in Anderson, Indiana.

He was chosen to direct Rin-Tin-Tin in "Tracked by the Police." His signal success in that picture obtained for him the direction of "Jaws of Steel," and the handling of the megaphone for the under-world melodrama, "The Girl from Chicago," with Conrad Nagel and Myrna Loy. His next picture was "Domestic Troubles." This was followed by "The Little Wildcat," "Land of the Silver Fox," "Stolen Kisses," "Kid Gloves" and "Skin Deep."

"SUBMARINE."

On the first day of the making of Columbia's "Submarine," a mighty drama of the sea, now showing at the Central Theatre, Jack Holt received an injury to his wrist which made it impossible for him to apply his own make-up.

The accident occurred during a cafe brawl with several extras. Each man was anxious to make the scene realistic and Holt was doubly active. During one of his punches, which landed on the head of an extra, Holt sprained his wrist. "Submarine" is filled with action, with many of the scenes taking place at the bottom of the sea. Dorothy Revier and Ralph Graves support the star under the direction of Frack C. Capra.

"THE SEAS BENEATH."

Recounting in a thrilling manner the Allied fight against the submarine menace, and combining this with a unique romance between an American naval commander and a German secret service agent, "The Seas Beneath," Fox movie-tone drama now showing at the King's Theatre reveals many hitherto un-filmed secret of the U-boat struggle.

The story, written by a former naval officer and directed by John Ford with the co-operation of the United States Navy, revolves around the activities of a noted German submarine, the U-172, and the efforts of two American ships to capture it. One of these vessels, a big schooner, is equipped as a "Q-ship" of "Mystery ships," with a big gun concealed under a false deck-house. The other is an American submarine, escorting the schooner and maintaining telephone communication with her through a long cable. The efforts of the German spy, a woman, almost capture the American vessels and the heart of their commander.

Ten minutes before full time a good centre from the right wing was converted by the University inside right to give them victory by two goals to one.

FRANCE LOOKING FOR DOUBLES TEAM

Paris, Oct. 20.

The French Davis Cup committee looking forward to 1932 intends to spend all next season developing a men's doubles combine to take the place of the rapidly aging and time-worn pair, Cochet-Brugnon, in their effort to keep the Davis Silverware in France.

Early next Spring, Boussus, Marcel Bernard and Merila will be teamed up in various combinations among themselves and with one of the veterans. Out of that, France hopes to find a doubles team. Cochet and Lacoste are expected to furnish the stables defenders next year, with Borotra on the sidelines. Borotra in a warning letter to the French committee, which made public the document in the sporting newspaper, l'Auto, predicted that if America does not make the mistake again of tiring her Davis Cup team out at Wimbledon, the United States will fight France for the Winners.

C.B.A. DEFEAT THE BORDERERS.

JOHNSTONE'S SOLO EFFORT.

Playing on the U.S.R.C. ground at King's Park yesterday, the South Wales Borderers went down to the Central British Association (formerly the K.B.S.F.P.A.) by the odd goal in three, after an exciting game.

At half-time the Borderers crossed over with a goal lead, scored as a result of Johnstone's solo dash through the C.B.A.'s defence. The C.B.A. on more than one occasion were unlucky not to equalise, and on one particular occasion, C. C. Francis got past the opposition and shot into the goal-keeper's pads when well placed.

After the interval positional changes effected in the C.B.A. line-out saw a marked improvement in their team work. In the opening minutes of this half, they kept up a steady barrage on the Borderers' goal, and after forcing a corner, C. C. Francis scored the equaliser. In spite of repeated attacks, the Borderers' defence proved equal to every occasion, and gradually the pendulum swung in favour of the army team, who began to take up the offensive.

Following a splendid clearance, play was transferred to the Borderers' half, and J. White, after cleverly robbing one of the military full backs, netted the winning goal. Play terminated in darkness.

ART EXHIBITION.

Pictures by Great Artist at Komor.

The Summer has left and made way for Autumn. All of us enjoy this pleasant season, but still another pleasure is in store for us—Komor's Autumn Picture Exhibition.

Look up your calendar. Did you underline November 4? No, it is not a holiday, but it is the day Komor's exhibit and begin to sell their pictures. As there are only 10 days to enjoy this attractive display, see it the first day as otherwise the very picture you want most may have a big "SOLD" sign on it.

Artists popular among Hong Kong connoisseurs, such as Terauchi, Kobayashi, Aoki, and others are again represented in Komor's Autumn Exhibition. A new corner is Kyoto, and all will be surprised at the perfect oil paintings he produces.

Did you think about what to send home for Christmas? What is more suitable than a beautiful water colour from Komor's. They will be sold from $3 upward.

Ozaki a newcomer to the Colony, exhibits one oil painting of Hong Kong China Town and the colours, as also the drawing of this picture, are perfect. When you visit Komor's do not forget to look at this work of art.

No. 28, a beautiful view of Hakone by Ooki, No. 17, Odawara by the same artist, No. 52, Shinobazu Pond in Tokyo, by Terauchi, and No. 98, a Kobayashi picture of Nara, are novel in idea and most imposing.

The exhibition will be open for 10 days only. Visitors will be welnot spend your time more pleasantly than viewing this remarkable display of pictures at Komor and FLOOD RELIEF.

Plans for Charity Ball and Concert.

The recent North China Flood has brought about immeasurable calamity and devastation to those Provinces of China and most of the natives there have been rendered homeless and indeed it is a well-known fact that a majority of the sufferers are at the verge of starvation. Although the response for relief subscriptions has been met with everywhere in China, yet the need is still being felt on account of the vast area affected. Therefore in furtherance of this worthy object, several gentlemen, it is learned, including the Assistant Manager of the Sincere Co., Ltd., Mr. Ma Man-fai, Mr. Peter H.
Sin and Mr. Chan Wai-chuen (Manager of the Hotel Cecil) have started another subscription campaign by organising a Charity Ball and Concert.

This scheme has instantly obtained substantial support from many local philanthropists amongst whom there is Mrs.
Southern who cheered up the Committee in its good work by making a donation of a handsome cheque. The Committee has been further encouraged by the support of the Hon. Sir Shou-son Chow, the Hon. Dr.
R. H. Kotewall, C.M.G., LL.D.,
and the Hon. Dr. S. W. T'so, O.B.E., LL.D., who have kindly consented to become the patrons of the Charity Ball and Concert, which will be held on November 10, 1931, commencing from 8.30 p.m. at the Hotel Cecil (by kind permission of the Hotel Management).

It is understood that a very attractive programme will be offered in which many local singing talents and musical artists will contribute items. An excellent orchestra will be rendered by Mr. Charlie Chan and other amateur musical players. The Committee assures us that there will be a very enjoyable evening.
The cover charge is $5 including

Kowloon Circus.

It is rather naive to assert, as a contemporary does, that the present idea of traffic control at the Kowloon Circus has "worked so well that it has been decided to allow it to remain. This is good news for accident insurance companies, but a bad omen for hapless pedestrians who still have to run the gauntlet either of buses moving on to the "cattle pens" or of rikshas rushing toward the Star Ferry entrance-way with passengers. On the Hong Kong side of the Ferry vehicular traffic automatically comes to a standstill to permit outgoing Ferry passengers to cross the street in safety. In Kowloon bus drivers are their own masters. They stop to allow passengers to alight and then career round to the "cattle pens" to the danger of people crossing over to catch a bus. Again, on alighting from a bus at the eastern end, particularly during the rush hours, one encounters numerous rikshas dashing toward the same spot to drop their fares, heedless whether or not they are obstructing and menacing passengers from the buses. This is the system which we are now told has "worked so well that it has been decided to continue it!"

During a time of supposed strict economy, money is being lavished on the erection of a couple of overhead shelters—one from the Star Ferry verandah to the car and taxi stand and another from the western end of the Ferry premises to the public pier. People wanting cars or taxis or desiring to go to the public pier have done so long without overhead shelters from rain and sun that they need not be pitted if they had to wait a few years more. However, the die has been cast. The work of erecting the overhead shelters is proceeding and the Government will be able to ejaculate "What a good boy am I"—so solicitous of car and taxi fares and of people going to the public pier. As usual, bus passengers are the Cinderellas of the Kowloon Circus traffic scheme. They may, on proceeding from the Ferry to a bus, get knocked down by the erratic driver of another bus rattling through the crowd of pedestrians. They may get sunstroke or get wet to the skin whilst catching their bus—nobody cares. If people will patronise buses they cannot expect the same luxurious treatment as those able to afford a hired motor car or a taxicab! Oh, yes—the present traffic idea is working so well! Some day we may open the Government Gazette to find that the buses have to park on the vacant ground adjoining the Wee. Golf course and that bus passengers are required to walk thence to the Ferry. What is the use of having a Kowloon Circus if we do not witness the antics of the clown now and again? Some of the recent "turns" have been provocative of mirth as well as pregnant with the menace of tragedy. When the Kowloon Circus traffic scheme really reaches completion—any old year between now and 2031—we trust that Mr. Punch will send out a Special Commissioner to "write it up!"

A Gallant Old Lady.

In celebration of her 91st birthday, a woman who played a gallant part in the tragic siege of Metz in the war of 1870 has received the 'Carte de Combattant', a document of which every man who has fought for France is the proud possessor. She is Mme. Josephine Hild, a widow, who lives in the Bonsecours Hospital at Metz. She is a vigorous old lady, and talks with great animation of her adventures as the secret messenger of Gambetta. When war was declared Mme. Hild left her home at Sarreguemines, in the Moselle Department, in order as she puts it—"to avoid the Prussians." She stayed for a time with her brother-in-law's family at Lyons, and later went to Tours. It was there that she volunteered to carry a message from Gambetta to Marshal Bazaine, who was besieged at Metz. This message was carried in her mouth, and she still has the rubber tube in which it was enclosed.

Mme. Hild succeeded in passing through the Prussian lines, but she arrived too late. Bazaine, who was alleged to have betrayed his country, had already surrendered. She was told subsequently that if she had delivered Gambetta's message after the surrender she would almost certainly have been shot by Bazaine's orders. As it was she returned to Tours and gave back the instructions of the Republican Government. She may well be proud of her "Carte," for very few women possess one.—Daily Telegraph.

His Voice Brings Silence at Once.

Mr. Knight Smith, who lives at Cleithropes, Thorpe Hill, Avenue, Thorpe Bay, Southed, is 73, and he is probably known by more famous men—and women—than any other public official. For 40 years his voice has rung out above the after-dinner chatter of distinguished diners, commanding silence for speakers. And yet, as he stated recently, although his voice commands instant attention at all public functions, it certainly does not dominate his home.

He said:

"During the whole of my professional career I have been assisted and guided by my wife, and she was responsible for a revolutionary change in the profession of toast-mastering. About 38 years ago my wife said that she thought a professional Master of Ceremonies should wear something distinctive, and between us we managed to get out a rather imposing scarlet uniform. The first time it caused a sensation. At first it was considered a joke by many of the City toast-masters, but some were soon pleased to act as my deputies."

Mr. Knight Smith has officiated at St. James's Palace, the Royal Academy, the Guildhall, the Royal Albert Hall, the Mansion House, and other halls in London, in the provinces, and on the Continent. In addition to his professional duties, he is an accomplished singer, and is the proprietor of a band. As a boy he sang in St. Paul's Cathedral and Westminster Abbey. He has been Master of Ceremonies to the Mayors of Southend for 30 years. And he says that the ideal after-dinner speech is "fluent, humorous, and brief."—Evening Standard.

News in Brief.

Letters of administration, with will and codicils annexed, have been granted to his widow, Eva Lim, and eldest son, Hugh Lim, Prince Edward Road, Kowloon, who are attorneys for Daniel Lim, the sole executor named in the will, which makes family bequests.

NO TALKING TO CLIENTS?

An Advocate's Complaint.

ASSIZE JUDGE'S RULING.

Before Mr. E. W. Jayawardene, Commissioner of Assize, the case was taken up for trial recently at the Colombo Assizes in which a villager named Pedru Mirandu was charged with having on December 16 at Kurana in the Negombo District committed culpable homicide not amounting to murder by causing the death of a man named Paulu Fernando by stabbing him with a knife, says the Ceylon Observer.

Mr. M. F. S. Palle, Crown Counsel prosecuted. Mr. H. Sri Nissanka with Mr. E. F. Wijemannan defended the accused.

Mr. Nissanka, addressing the Court said: "Before the indictment is read to the accused in this case I desire to say that I am instructed by Mr. A. E. Aserappu, Proctor, of Negombo. I want to ask the accused his age because it is very material to my defence. He has entrusted his life and his liberty to me, but it seems, that I cannot speak to him, according to the new resolution passed by the General Council of Advocates."

The Judge: What! Cannot talk to him? You cannot talk to a client in a criminal case?

Mr. Nissanka: I cannot talk to him, according to the new rules, except through a mouthpiece—the Proctor.

The Judge: When did you hear of such a rule?

Mr. Nissanka: I never heard of such a rule in all my life. But it is there all the same.

The Judge: Have you read the life of one of the greatest criminal lawyers in England—Sir Edward Marshall Hall. He was continually talking to his clients.

Mr. Nissanka: I would ask for your Lordship's ruling on this matter.

The Judge (to the Registrar): Read the indictment to the accused.

The indictment was then read out and the accused pleaded not guilty.

The Judge (to Mr. Nissanka): What is your grievance?

Mr. Nissanka: That I cannot talk to my client and I want very much to.

The Judge: Not even now?

Mr. Nissanka: No.

Judge Gives Permission.

The Judge: I give you liberty to do so.

Mr. Nissanka: Thank you, My Lord. Your Lordship has rendered a great service to these prisoners in the dock, and other similar circumstances and this ruling will be appreciated by the whole Island.

CROWN LAND SALES.

At the offices of the P.W.D. yesterday afternoon, two lots of Crown land were sold by public auction.

The first was Kowloon Inland Lot No. 2573, situated at the junction of Canton and Mongkok Roads, at Talkoktsai. It comprises an area of 26,000 square feet and the annual Crown rent is $478. The upset price was $39,045, and it was knocked down to Mr. Wong Wan, 200, Sai Yung Choi Street, for $79,000.

The other was Rural Building Lot No. 332, situated in Repulse Bay Road, near Wingneichong Gap. It comprises an area of 31,800 square feet and the annual Crown rent is $336. The upset price was $6,360, and the property was sold to Mr. Lai Tin, of Woo Brothers, for $8,100.

OXFORD SCOUTS' BENEFACTOR.

Among wills recently announced is that of Miss Emily Lydia Peto, of Crewkerne, Somerset, a daughter of the late Sir Morton Peto, Bart., at one time M.P. for Bristol.

Miss Peto left £100 for the general purposes of the Boy Scouts Association, and £800 for the upkeep of the headquarters of the New Marston Boy Scouts, Oxford, "which half I gave to the association some years ago."

A visiting card found in the house of the dead woman was stated to have led to the arrest of Henry Daniel Seymour, 33, a commercial traveller, who was charged on remand at Oxford with the murder of Mrs. Annie Louisa Kempson, Mrs. Kempson, who was 68, was found dead in a room at her home, Boundary House, St. Clement's, Oxford, on August 1.

CORRESPONDENCE.

FORTHCOMING MUSICAL EVENTS.

[To the Editor of "China Mail"]

Sir,—In the whirl of engagements during the week of the A.D.C. show, I hope it will not be overlooked that some excellent musicians—the Schneider Trio—are coming here to give two chamber music concerts at the Helena May Institute on Tuesday and Friday, November 17 and 20 at 9.20 p.m.

The Trio consists of a pianist, violinist, and cellist, and the type of music performed by them—piano trios—is one which is practically never heard in the Colony. We have had individual pianists and violinists here, but no chamber music trio has visited us since the War.

An additional attraction is the fact that they have with them a clavichord, better known as a harpsichord, for which music was written before the pianoforte was invented, and at their second concert they will devote the first half to a recital of 17th and 18th century music, using this instrument, following with Arensky's beautiful piano trio in D Minor.

The works chosen for the first concert are a Brahms trio, and Cesar Frank's trio, with an interesting set of piano pieces entitled Pictures from an Exhibition by Moussorgsky.

Advertisements will appear in due course, but the amount of advertising that can be done is relatively small, as the seats are priced at $4 and $3, and even if the hall is fairly full the receipts cannot amount to very much. The Hong Kong Musical Society, in giving the concerts its full support, must therefore count to some extent on the individual efforts of music-lovers in bringing them to the notice of likely supporters.

I trust that those who read this letter and would like to attend will make a note of the dates and do their utmost to ensure a good attendance. I would specially appeal to the many Chinese in the Colony who are known to be interested in Western music, but who did not respond to our request for support for the Youma Guller recitals.

Another musical event of great interest is the Heifetz recital, which everybody is already talking about. The exact date is not yet fixed, but it will probably be about the end of the month.

Yours, etc.,

A. M. BOWEN-SMITH,

Hon. Secretary.

H.K. Musical Society.

At this afternoon's meeting of the Licensing Board, tribute was paid to the services rendered by the late Mr. Alexander Mackenzie. The Board passed the following resolution moved by Dr. Severn:—"The members of the Licensing Board desire to convey to the widow and family of the late Mr. Alexander Mackenzie their sincere sympathy with them in their bereavement and to record their appreciation of the valuable services rendered by their deceased colleague as a member of the Board."

SOUTH AFRICA LOOKS EASTWARD

THE ASIATIC AS TRADE COMPETITOR.

By Jan H. Hofmeyr.

South Africa as a white man's land owes its origin to the East. It was discovered in the course of men's search for a sea route to the wealth of the Indies—white men first settled there in order to establish a refreshment station, a half-way house in their eastward voyagings. So throughout its history South Africa has faced eastward as well as westward, and in spite of the determination to make the westward orientation prevail, the East, for all men's efforts to expel it, ever returns. Once again to-day, there is being obtruded upon the Union's consciousness the persistence of its eastward orientation, and, as always, fear of the East and desire to benefit from the East are seen to be in conjunction.

"The Asiatics," so wrote Milner once, "are strangers forcing themselves upon a community reluctant to receive them." It was the same Milner who, a few years later, was a party to the importation of Chinese coolies to work on the Witwatersrand. The contradiction is characteristic of South Africa's attitude towards the East. It is being illustrated to-day at once in respect of Indians—an old problem brought anew into prominence—and of Japanese—a problem now first attracting attention.

The Indian came to South Africa because the white man willed it. His coming set sugar-planting on its feet in Natal, and established the colony's prosperity. He increased and multiplied. He spread to the Transvaal. He competed with the European trader, and, because of the Indian's low standards of living, the competition was disastrous for the European. So was born the "reluctance" of those who had originally "received" the Indian willingly enough. There followed restrictions and strife, and the birth of Gandhi's passive resistance methods, and inducements to voluntary repatriation, and agitation for enforced repatriation "bag and baggage." For all that, there are still 160,000 Indians in Natal, and 20,000 in the Transvaal, and smaller numbers in the other provinces—and well over two-thirds of them are of South African birth. And the Indian prospers, because the white man, who fears him and hates him, none the less buys his wares.

Indian immigration into the Union has, of course, ceased long since. The Act of 1913 gave the South African Government the power, without specific mention, to "deem" Indians, and indeed all Asiatics, unsuitable immigrants. That power has been acted on. The problem is, therefore, that of where and how the Indian population in the Union shall live and carry on its business—and on the European side the popular cry has been for their segregation in special areas, or "bantustans," and the restriction of their freedom of competition to the greatest possible extent.

That cry played a part in putting General Hertzog into power in 1924. Not long after, his Government introduced a Class Areas Bill, which was designed to appease it. There followed comings and goings between India and South Africa, a conference between representatives of the two Governments, and the conclusion in 1927 of an agreement. The Union Government, having tacitly dropped the bill, accepted in principle the task of uplifting the Indian within the gates, and the Indian Government promised its assistance in making effective the policy of voluntary repatriation. But the economic essentials of the problem remained. In the 1930 session of Parliament it assumed importance as a result of judgments of the courts which invalidated the rights of a large number of Indians on the Witwatersrand to their trading sites. A Select Committee investigated the matter, with the result that at the end of the session a Transvaal Asiatic Tenure Bill based on the segregation principle was introduced. In deference to India the Government agreed that it should stand over till the following session, but declared that it would then introduce it unchanged. It did so, but the second reading was never taken. Once again representations from India, not without backing from London, prevailed,

The matter stands in abeyance pending a further conference between the two Governments in January next. At this conference—the fact is surely not without significance—the South African Government has arranged that the Opposition shall also be represented. The problem has come to be conceived as a national problem—as one that must be removed from the arena of party strife. And in the light of conditions at present prevailing in India and of India's prospective new status, it is well that it should be so.

The Japanese. But in the meantime a new Asiatic problem has developed in South Africa—that of the Japanese. Attention has been drawn to it mainly because of a "Gentleman's Agreement" recently concluded with Japan, though in reality its roots strike deeper. Under the 1913 Act the Japanese also are prohibited immigrants, subject to the issue of temporary permits in individual cases. The "Gentleman's Agreement" amounts to an exchange of Notes between the two Governments, in terms of which such permits will be issued to all Japanese whose admission is recommended by the Consul for Japan, and who are either tourists, or scientists, or students, or wholesale merchants, or members of their staffs, or buyers of South African produce.

The agreement was concluded without reference to Parliament—it came up for discussion, indeed, only as a subsidiary issue on an Immigration Act Amendment Bill. Even so it gave rise to prolonged debates, meeting with much criticism from the South African party Opposition in the House, criticism which has been echoed by many Government supporters outside. And in fact the issue has since been converted into one of first-class importance by the very noticeable increase in the importation of Japanese goods into the Union. It is not the first Japanese attack on the South African market. One was launched in the post-war years. It failed because of the uncertain quality of the goods imported. Today Japanese industrialists have set themselves higher standards of quality, and aided by wage rates which are low in consonance with Eastern standards of living they are able to establish their position effectively in many lines. Their first notable conquest has been made with an excellent quality plimsoll shoe, which is being landed at about 1s. 6d. (and less) a pair, and is selling like hot cakes. It has already had a marked effect on the South African boot and shoe and leather industries. This has been followed up with calico and shirts and other articles of apparel, some competing more than successfully with British importations, others with South African made goods. At the moment Japanese pencils and fountain-pens and pocket-books are making their appearance. There is every indication that other lines will follow. The threat to industries established in the Union by the erection of tariff walls is serious; of considerable consequence also is the threat to British trade.

A New "Yellow Peril." The "Gentleman's Agreement" is, of course, not the direct cause of this increased importation. It has stimulated it in some measure; it seems designed to promote and extend it considerably; it does not make any easier the Government's task in dealing with the resultant problems. Yet it would be strange if in the public mind the two things were not brought even more closely together, and that is what is happening to-day. "The Japanese," the cry goes up, "are destroying our industries and forcing our people into unemployment; soon the wedge of immigration opened up by the agreement will be driven home, the flood of immigrants from Japan, with its seemingly insoluble population problem, will become irresistible; South Africa, faced to-day with a black cloud, will be confronted also with a yellow peril."

It is difficult to know why the Union Government entered upon this agreement. From the party point of view it would seem to be a blunder. It runs counter to the CHINESE MURDERED IN MARSEILLES.

Opium Pedlar's Body in a Trunk.

Marseilles, Sept. 14. Two Chinese murdered another Chinese—an opium pedlar—in an Aix-en-Provence hotel and carried the body out in a trunk in view of a police inspector.

The hotel manager, who suspected crime when his guest was missing, called in the police, who inspected the room. They saw nothing wrong. The crime was later discovered by a girl.

These are the facts of one of the most unusual crimes the Marseilles detectives have ever tackled—unusual because it was committed almost without concealment.

The room where the man was killed was examined again to-day, and blood-stains were found on the mattress, which had been turned over, and on the floor.

The question now arises—how did the policemen who were in the room a few minutes after the murder was committed miss seeing these signs of a crime?

A girl, walking along the highway near Aix-en-Provence yesterday, came across a valise and a small trunk. When opened the trunk was found to contain the body of a Chinese.

Police Puzzled.

The police were at a loss to understand the presence of the trunk and valise at such a lonely place, but this morning a taxicab driver reported that he had been hailed by two Chinese yesterday afternoon in front of an hotel in Aix and had taken them and their trunks to a spot on the main road.

The police went to the hotel, and were astounded to be told by the proprietor that he had already called them in because he was suspicious of the actions of certain Chinese in the hotel, but the police inspector who had investigated reported that there was nothing wrong.

The room in the hotel had been occupied by a Chinese pedlar, Sia Than Siang. On Saturday evening he left after settling his hotel bill. He was accompanied by another Chinese, who was helping him to carry a trunk, from which a red liquid trickled.

Red Wine!

Sia Than Siang, when questioned, said coolly that there was in the trunk a bottle of wine, which was cracked.

Following upon police inquiries to-night, it appears that the murdered man was one of a number of Chinese hawkers who also peddled drugs. His name was Shan Chiang Tann, aged 42, and he had recently arrived from Oran, in Algeria.

An opium pouch was found on the body, but no money, and this seems to indicate that robbery was the motive, since drug traffickers carry large sums of money.

It is doubtful whether the police will now be able to lay their hands on the murderers, who have disappeared into the underworld of Marseilles.

prejudices of many of its supporters. It runs counter also to its cherished policy of developing South Africa's secondary industries, and it is difficult to conceive of the raising of tariff walls high enough to keep out the new competition. And from the national point of view there is little to be said for it. Ministerial apologists have declared that it will lead to an expansion of the Union's export trade to Japan. But it is difficult to see what Japan cannot be bought by more advantageously nearer home. Perhaps, however, the real reason has not been disclosed; it may be that it seemed good to the Government, in response to pressure from Japan, to relax the prohibition on Japanese immigration while yet it is possible to make a small concession and before the whole dam is broken down by the pent-up flood.

Meantime the agitation against the agreement goes on throughout South Africa. And meantime also the purchase of Japanese goods increases. The Japanese "peril" could, it would seem, be dispelled by the people themselves if they would abstain from purchasing those goods. They are asking, in effect, to be protected against themselves. In essence, the problem is the same as it is in relation to the Indians. It is all very inconsistent. And yet, who shall say that it is not all very human?

PLAN TO MOVE DEVIL'S ISLAND.

Cruel Cold After Cruel Heat.

Complaints received from foreign Powers who have possessions in the neighbourhood of French Guiana concerning the number of escaped convicts who are seeking refuge in their hands have caused a proposal to be mooted in France that the French penal settlement at St. Laurent du Maroni, which is one of a group of three islands, in which the notorious Devil's Island is included, be moved to Kerguelen Island, in the extreme south of the Indian Ocean.

If this is done the convicts will change from almost dying of a gruelling heat and malaria of French Guiana to the most extreme cold, for Kerguelen Island is the last shred of land before the Antarctic ice pack is reached.

It is one of the most dismal and lonely spot in the world, no vegetation can be grown there except a special kind of cabbage; no cattle could be raised there, and only a few sheep. Even fish, for some reason which has not yet been discovered, avoid its small coast line.

The only occasional inhabitants are the members of whalers' crews and shipwrecked mariners. Even these usually die of scurvy. The scandal of the present Devil's Island would not be lessened.

Another suggestion is that the penal settlement should be moved to the island of New Amsterdam, another French possession further north in the Indian Ocean.

The climate here is more equable, and the buildings required could be constructed from local stone, thus avoiding the necessity of transporting it many hundreds of miles from the mainland. In addition to this, the land could easily be cultivated, so that fresh food could be obtainable.

GERMAN EPICURE'S DEATH.

Herr Gustav Horcher, the greatest of modern German epicures, died in Berlin on September 9. His restaurant was one of the most famous on the European Continent. It was patronised before the Revolution by royalty, both German and non-German, and, both before and since the Revolution, by statesmen, diplomats, and theatre and film stars.

German cooking rather lacks distinction—it does not compare with French,—and, except for a few dishes that do not achieve anything more than the massive and the monumental, it can show little of unique fascination, as Russian, Polish, Hungarian, and English cooking can.

Prodigious Memory. But Herr Horcher's range was international, and his special gift was two-fold—a subtle and almost loving insight into individual taste and a prodigious memory. He would remember a guest after only one or two visits, and ever afterwards the guest would be served with perfect understanding.

Those who returned after an interval of years—even after the interval caused by the war—were amazed by Herr Horcher's memory. He was also a philanthropist in his way. There were no prices on his menu. With one glance he would assess the amount each guest could afford to pay, and the price, often a very high one, was adjusted accordingly.

Poor students, especially if they came from his native Baden, were allowed to take free meals, sometimes for months on end, amid all the wealth and glitter of his restaurant.

When Albert Henry Roper, 16, was charged at Hastings with stealing provision from a fishing boat, it was contended that an alleged theft from a boat in the precincts of the harbour must involve trial at the Assizes. The magistrates were unable to decide, however, whether Hastings has a harbour within the meaning of an old Act, and Roper was remanded.

THE DUBLIN CROWN JEWELS.

Sensational Theft of 1907 Recalled.

A report has reached Dublin suggesting that the famous Crown Jewels, stolen from Dublin Castle in July, 1907, and valued at £50,000, may be had at a ransom price.

The authorities were told that "certain valuable treasures" could be obtained for the city if authority to move in the matter was obtained and necessary guarantees given. No move to get in touch with the holders has yet been made.

Several times recently, it is stated, mysterious moves have been made which are believed to have been associated with efforts to sell the jewels. It is believed that the treasures are either in England or on the Continent.

The jewels were stolen from a strong room in Dublin Castle under the eyes of detective headquarters, then in the Castle, on the eve of the visit of King Edward and Queen Alexandra for the International Exhibition.

They were to have been used in the ceremony, but just before it the door of the strong room was found open, the safe inside unlocked, and the jewels missing. Neither lock had, apparently, been tampered with, and the keys were still in the possession of the late Sir Arthur Vicars, custodian of the jewels.

An inquiry, over which Mr. Chester Masters, the London magistrate, presided, was held, but no trace of the jewels was ever found. Sir Arthur Vicars declined to appear before the commissioners. They deemed his reasons for so doing insufficient, and reported that he had not exercised due and proper care.

PROSPECTUS.

The firm of the CHINA AGRICULTURAL DEVELOPMENT SYNDICATE (sometimes called the China Guano Company) was started in November, 1930, and it is this firm that the Company is being formed to carry on with a larger capital.

This business is the manufacture in Hong Kong of Fertilizers and the sale of Fertilizers in Hong Kong, China and elsewhere and such other business as the Directors may from time to time decide.

The Directors confidently hope that after the first year of business the Company's Fertilizers will be firmly established in the market and that the Company will then make at least 20 per cent. per annum net on the paid up capital with greater profits as the business increases.

The business will be taken over by the Company as a going concern as from the 17th day of August 1931, the date of the last stock taking and the Company will have the benefit of all profits realized from that date and, and which is by far the most valuable asset which the Company is taking over at a very conservative price.

The property to be transferred to the Company will comprise the following items, constituting the whole capital of the business at the abovementioned date.

1. Goodwill, including Canton Government permit to import (Huchow); Established Agencies in Canton, Swatow, Amoy, etc., and business connections in Hong Kong; Advertising and propaganda work done	$10,000.00
2. Stock of Guano Phosphate, 1,050 tons, as per sworn Measurer's Certificate and Government Analysts' Certificates of analysis, at $29.11 per ton (Current wholesale value of similar guanos and phosphates $35 per ton)	$48,036.50
3. Stock of Superphosphate and mixed fertilizers	$533.32
4. Cash in Bank	$6,724.99
5. Expenses and advertising material paid in advance	$435.92
6. Tools and equipment in godown and furniture in office	$1,933.50
7. Sundry Debtors	$68,005.03
Less Sundry Creditors	$805.03
	$67,200.00

Actual purchase price $67,200.00.

Agency Agreements exist and are in force with reliable people in all the centres mentioned above and in every case where goods are supplied on credit suitable bank or other guarantees are held for payment when due. An Agency for the New Territories and part of the adjoining part of Kwangtung Province has just been given to a very reliable man in Taipei Market. The Fertilizers are well known in Hong Kong and appreciable quantities are taken by the leading Golf and other sporting clubs.

The stock of Guano Phosphate is valued on the basis of the content of Phosphoric Acid (P₂O₅) supported by Certificates of Analyses by the Hong Kong Government Analyst and in comparison with recent quotations from several other sources of supply of phosphates of approximately the same chemical content.

As regards the working capital, it is considered that the amount to be raised out of the proceeds of the share now offered for subscription, $47,800.00 plus the amount represented by the stock, cash in Bank, etc. (see above) will amply suffice for the Company's wants.

Messrs. Lowe, Bingham & Matthews, Chartered Accountants, have recently made a special investigation and have given a certificate that they are satisfied that the retail selling price of the stock of Guano Phosphate is considerably higher than the price at which the Company is buying $29.11 (see above) Copies of this Certificate may be seen at the Offices of the Vendors, the Auditors and of the Solicitors.

It is proposed to continue the business without break or interruption, retaining the services of the present Managing Partner, Mr. L. Dowdall, the Agronomist, Mr. J. Watson and the staff who have largely contributed to the success of the business.

The Managing Partner of the firm, Mr. L. Dowdall, will act as Managing Director of the Company, it is hoped for a long period, and while so acting will retain an interest of at least 500 shares ($5,000) in the capital of the Company.

The other Directors will retain at least 100 shares ($1,000) each while they act.

The purchase price for the sale of the above property has been fixed by the vendors, who are the promoters of the Company, at $67,200.00, of which only $10,000.00 is for the good will. The purchase price will be paid in shares of the Company in the following proportions:—

SEA EPICS OF GREAT WAR BATTLES OF CORONEL AND FALKLANDS.

[By Hector C. Bywater.]

Although disfigured by anti-British diatribes, "Before Jutland," in which Comdr. Hans Pochhammer, who was first officer of the Gneisenau, describes the battles of Coronel and the Falklands, is a thrilling book and a valuable addition to the literature of that campaign.

Von Spee's victory over Admiral Craddock's weaker force, and the swift Nemesis that overtook the German admiral at the hands of Admiral Sturdee, are dramas of the war which remain fresh in the public mind.

Comdr. Pochhammer paints a vivid picture of the Coronel action. When Craddock's force was sighted the Gneisenau's men were filled with the lust of battle.

"All displayed the grimmest determination to win. Even the yellow shells ranged in a line behind the guns appeared to be aware of their destination, for in the semi-darkness I noticed chalked inscriptions, such as 'Hit,' 'Nine killed,' 'Slayer of Englishmen,' 'Good-bye and kisses, and other more or less cruel or amiable messages to our cousins.'"

Monmouth's Gallantry. Good Hope, it is claimed, was hit at the third salvo. Overwhelmed by sheer weight of metal, she was speedily set on fire and driven out of the line, a blazing wreck. Burning fore and aft, she presented "the unique spectacle of a sheet of flame upon a sea lashed by the tempest. Her flames served as a guide to our target-finders, and one broadside followed another from our guns in order to make an end of things. This was not long delayed. A loud explosion, probably of a powder magazine, extinguished the fire of the Good Hope."

Gneisenau herself had been engaged with Monmouth, which was soon disabled by the German 8in. shells. Out of control, with fires raging on deck and below, she was found drifting aimlessly with a heavy list.

"When the Nurnberg opened fire at close range, Monmouth tried to ram her adversary, as she could not fire. The Nurnberg quickly gave her the finishing stroke. At that distance no shot could miss. Slowly the ship turned over on her side, the upper deck, all battered, reared up, the masts, still flying ensigns, drooped towards the water, and the red keel of the ship appeared."

The state of the sea precluded the lowering of boats, and, as in the case of Good Hope, Monmouth's entire crew perished with their ship.

Lord Fisher's genius prepared the counterstroke, which was delivered with shattering force less than a month later.

When our battle cruisers emerged from Port Stanley the Germans knew their doom was upon them, and they faced it unflinchingly.

German's Last Stand.

The German ships scattered, but there was no escape. The British firing appears to have been much more accurate than previous accounts have indicated. Gneisenau soon received her first hit. Fired at long range, the British shells crashed through her decks, exploding below. Men fell thick and fast, but those that were left carried on with iron discipline.

"They loaded, aimed, and shot; repaired damage in spite of the shrapnel which was falling everywhere; they shovelled coal; fought floods, fire, and smoke; they removed the bodies of their dead comrades, for Death was holding his grim review on board, selecting whom he should take the first and whom the last."

There were horrible scenes in the ship. Shells seemed to be bursting everywhere, sweeping away guns and crews, plunging into the lower compartments, and opening yawning gaps in the hull. Scharnhorst had received still heavier punishment, and Admiral Spee must have known his flagship's fate to be sealed. It was now that he made his grand gesture. In an effort to give Gneisenau a chance of escape he deliberately turned his own ship towards the British, and tried to close to but the Scharnhorst was shot to pieces.

She had not long to wait. Under the converging fire of several British ships, Gneisenau's came swiftly. As she sank nearly 400 men were left struggling in the water, but more than half of these succumbed to the intense cold before they could be rescued. To the author, who was at his last gasp—

"It was a consoling, though mournful, sight to see the first of the English ships approaching with a great noise; to see her brought to a standstill as near to us as appeared possible by a manoeuvre which delighted every sailor's eye."

From the Scharnhorst there were no survivors, but the other sunken cruisers yielded 215 all told, out of a total complement of 2,200.

The translation is indifferent, and we get such strange naval terminology as ships "staircases," "larboard" (for port), and "the before starboard casemate." We read with astonishment that "powerful arms rammed the charges into the mouths of guns!" "Before Jutland," Jarrolds.

THE ERRIA.

New 17-Knot East Asiatic Motorship.

On September 5 the motor ship Erria, the East Asiatic Company's latest addition to their Straits-Bangkok Line fleet of motorships, was successfully launched by the Nakakov Shipyard.

The m.s. Erria is of the same type as the m.s. Asia and the m.s. Boringia, but is equipped with bigger and more luxurious passenger accommodation. She is of 14,700 tons displacement (9,400 tons gross Register) and her main dimensions are: Length, 440 feet, Breadth, 62 feet, Depth (to upper deck), 37 feet.

The propelling machinery consists of two B. and W. double-acting two-tact Diesel motors developing 9,300 i.h.p., which will give the ship a speed of about 17 knots fully loaded.

She has accommodation for 74 passengers. The entire passenger accommodation is situated amidships and all staterooms are outside, spacious and airy, accommodated on 3 decks as follows:—

Main Deck.—19 double berth cabins with adjoining private bathroom; 8 double berth cabins without private bathroom.

Promenade Deck.—8 double berth cabins with adjoining private bathroom.

Upper Promenade Deck.—2 very luxuriously appointed Cabins-de-Luxe with large intercommunicating private saloon.

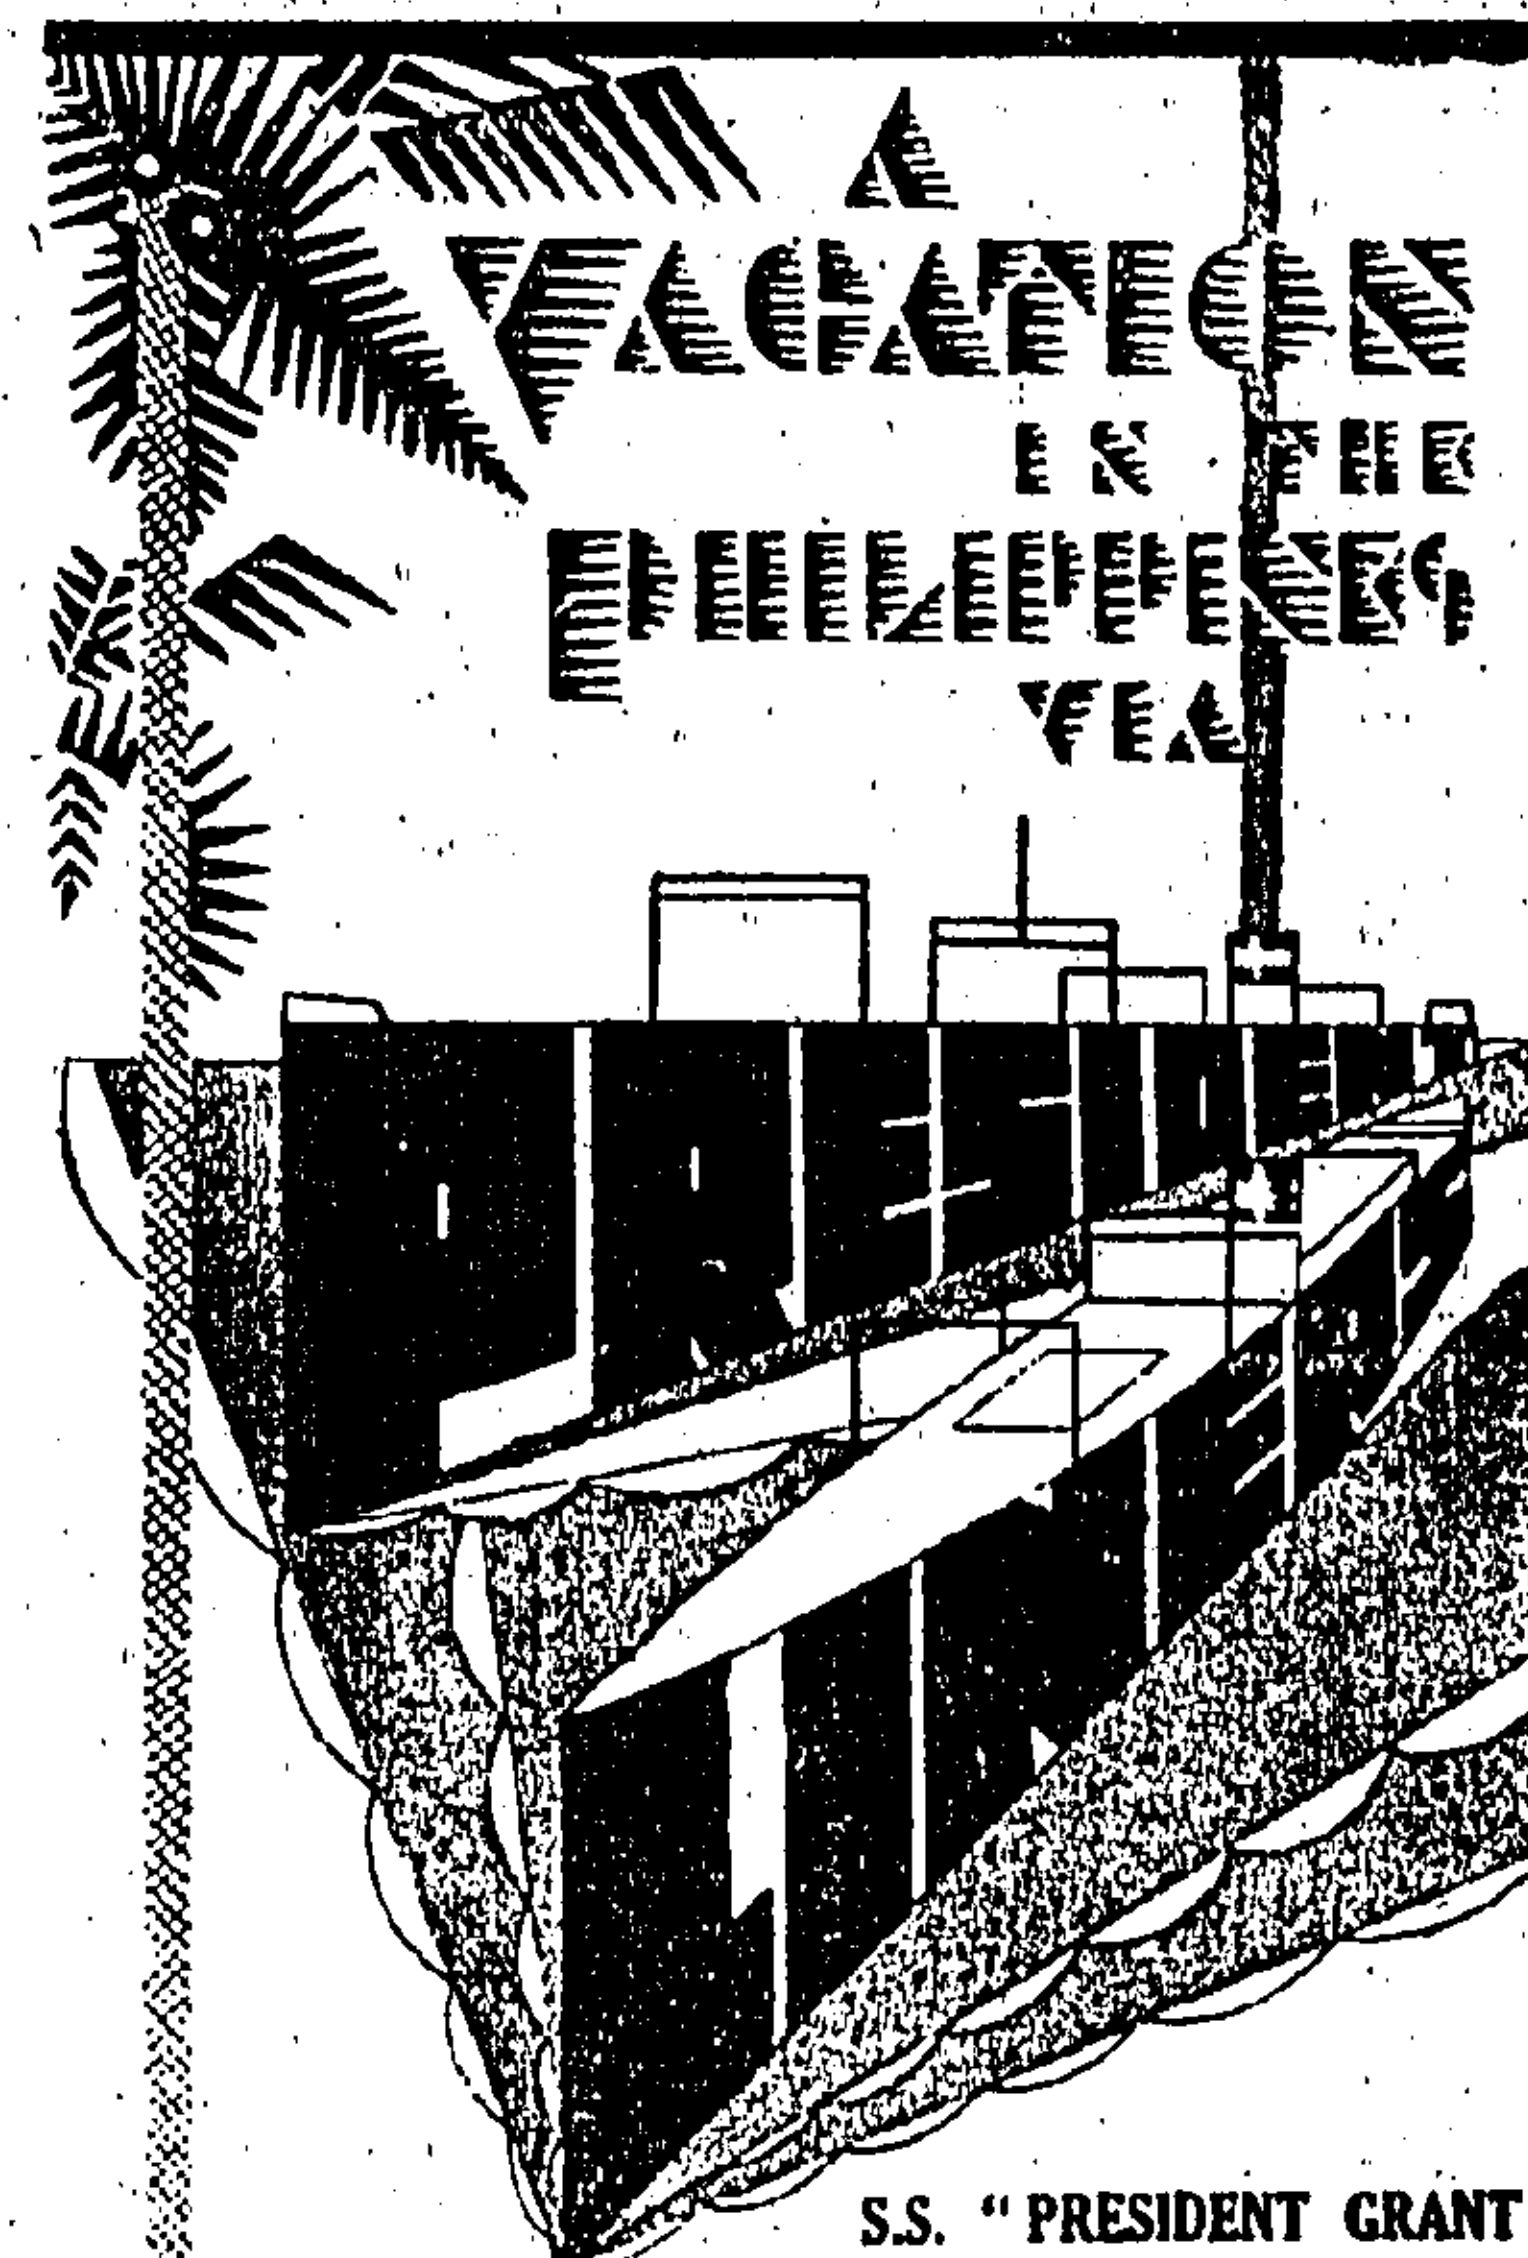

A special point has been made of making the large saloons as attractive and comfortable as possible. The dining saloon is situated on the main deck, the smoking saloon on the promenade deck and a combined ladies lounge and music-saloon has been allotted a very attractive position on the upper promenade deck. Besides assuring a permanent presence of fresh air a large dome over the dining saloon and smoking saloon adds greatly to the architectural beauty of these. The children's room is situated next to the dining saloon opposite the Purser's Office.

For the convenience of passengers there are two bars, one on the main deck and one on the promenade deck, a ladies' and gentlemen's hair-dressing saloon and a darkroom for development of photographic films, etc.

In similarity with the majority of the East Asiatic Company's Passenger-vessels m.s. Erria will be equipped with a powerful shortwave sender enabling her to maintain direct connection with Europe throughout the voyage.

The large decks offer plenty of space for deck games, dancing, etc., and for those fond of swimming an open-air swimming pool is provided.

M.s. Erria is due at Penang on her maiden voyage on February 12. She will leave Penang homewards on March 11 for Colombo, Genoa and London.

EMPIRE BROADCASTING.

Exiles Dream Of 24-Hour Service.

Some time ago important decisions were reached about an Empire broadcasting station. These were greeted with acclamation by all, and one had dreams of a twenty-four-hour service on wave-lengths suitable to the time of day, says D. B.
Mackenzie in the September issue of Modern Wireless.

Alas, they remain but dreams!
No doubt files are passing from office to office, plans being drawn and "submitted for approval, please," but in the meantime we Indian exiles, whose other troubles have been figuring largely in the Press, are worse off as regards broadcasting than we have been for some years past. GSW continues to pursue its unprogressive and, so far as India is concerned, almost useless policy of relaying the London programme with inadequate power on an unsuitable wave-length.
Phillips Radio of Holland, who used to be our main stand-by when we wished to show off the capabilities of our set to a sceptical friend, have ceased transmissions on the 15-metre band wave-length, which used to be received so well in India, and has greatly curtailed its programmes on its 31-metre band wave-length.

Chelmsford Only Occasionally.
Rome, on 25.4 metres, is well received, but at a late hour in the evening; and Java can still be received at great strength, often without any aerial, but transmits little music.

When Chelmsford has a special transmission on hand, such as the Grand National, or the Boat Race, it can generally be heard. I have a suspicion that the engineers responsible say one to the other: "Let's give these colonials a treat and hang the budget!" and "ginger up"
the power a bit on such occasions.

Actually what we want is news, sent out at various times to suit our oriental habits. It should not be forgotten that on the North-West Frontier, in the Winter, European hours and clothes are the rule, while in Madras the climate does not vary greatly from Winter to Summer, and the chief meals of the day are frequently "brunch" at about 11 a.m. and dinner at 9 p.m.
Therefore, to meet the needs of all, a twenty-four-hour service is necessary, with frequent repetitions of the news. When I say "all," I mean not only all in India, but also those further East, and those farther West.

Articles have been appearing in the Indian Press recently outlining schemes of broadcasting to cope with the great distances and diversity of tongues found in the Indian Peninsula. All these deal with schemes for transmission, but in actual fact half the value of a Government scheme for transmission will be lost if a further scheme for reception in the villages is not provided.

Radio Badly Needed.

There are thousands of villages and millions of people situated many miles from the railway and the post and telegraph offices. Such villages have postal deliveries once or twice in the week at the most.
Such newspapers as reach them are days, if not weeks, old, and probably very inaccurate. News travels mainly by means of travellers from one village to another. It would be scarcely possible to imagine a more receptive soil for wireless.

A beginning could be made with the big villages. In every district, and a district may be as large as Yorkshire, or larger, there will be, say, six important villages. In each install a schoolmaster how to switch it on. Have it overhauled and attended to by a travelling inspector appointed by the Government, and in return for a comparatively small outlay you will be able to ensure that correct information about the acts and intentions of the Government is being quickly disseminated throughout the outlying districts.

Every village has its guest house, and in the evenings the men of the village gather outside it under a shady banyan tree and discuss the crops, politics, etc., just as is the custom of men all over the world.
Put your set and loudspeaker there,
and it will instantly become the centre of the circle.

The Indian peasant may be illiterate, but he is no fool in the important affairs of life. Place, therefore, at his right hand, up-to-date and accurate news, and, provided the Government is wise, you can be morally certain of a loyal and contented peasantry, able to counter the arguments of the agitator.

CHILD PRODIGES.

London, Sept. 22.

Of child musical prodigies the world has known many—as child prodigies—but very few of them grow into manhood and still remain great composers or great executant musicians. I suppose the two greatest child prodigies in the past were Mozart and Franz Liszt, and both became world-famous artists in manhood. In our own day, no doubt, my readers can remember many cases of child prodigies who performed wonders on the violin or the pianoforte, but of whom, since growing up, the world has heard but little.

To-night we have an opportunity of hearing a pianist who began as a child prodigy, and who now, grown to manhood, has developed also into a great pianist. I am referring to Solomon, who will play that magnificent Concerto No. 2 in C minor by Rachmaninov at the Promenade Concert this evening. The concert will be relayed from the Daventry National station and from the London Regional station. I think most of my readers who are fond of music will have heard this concerto before. It is one which somehow or other never seems to grow stale.

At ten o'clock, via the Daventry station, we shall also hear the B.B.C.'s attempt of putting into practice a new technique for broadcasting poetry. This new technique aims at proving that wireless is a suitable medium for poetry. Under the title "Mosaic" listeners will hear this experiment, in which music and poetry are to be combined to express and interpret various moods. It is an experiment which will have important effects on the programmes of the future if it proves successful.

tent. On the case as it stands I agree with my brother that the appeal must be allowed and the conviction quashed.

Question of Costs.

An application by Mr. Jenkin for costs was argued at length. Mr. Fitzroy argued that in these cases the Crown did not recover costs when successful and, therefore, no costs should be given against the Crown; while Mr. Jenkin argued that the respondent in this case was not the Crown but a Police Constable; therefore, he submitted their Lordships should make an order for costs.

The Court reserved its decision on this point.

The appellant-defendants were represented by Mr. F. C. Jenkin, K.C., and Mr. R. C. H. Lim (instructed by Mr. G. K. Hall Brutton), whilst the respondent, Chinese Constable Chui, Nam, was represented by Mr. H. Somerset Fitzroy, Assistant Attorney-General.

AUSTRALIA TO D.E.I.

Drifting Fishermen
Now in Singapore.

Two men who set out from Derby, in the north of Western Australia, at the beginning of September in a small sailing vessel for a fishing trip and were blown out to sea as far as the Dutch East Indies arrived in Singapore last month by the "Penrith Castle" from Sourabaya.

The men are Thomas Robbins, a seaman, and Albert Locke, a deck-hand. They had a third man with them named Jones when they left Australia but he stayed in Sourabaya owing to illness.

Interviewed by a Straits Times representative Mr. Robbins said that with another man called Jones they had set out from Derby in Australia in a 20-ft. open sailing boat for a fishing trip.

To reach the open sea they had to sail through King George's Sound. When they were three days out they were caught in a storm and the boat drifted with the wind.

"After another four days," went on Mr. Robbins, we hit the island of Savoe, in the Dutch East Indies, and stopped there for two days.

"Rather than face the trip back against the wind we thought we should sail on to Sourabaya. We left Savoe on or about September 11 or 12, we had left Derby somewhere about the first of the month, and midday the next day we sighted the island of Soemba and landed at a little place called Melolo.

"From there we sailed on to Waingaboe which was about 80 miles away from Melolo."

Tides Too Strong.

Mr. Robbins went on to say that it was then their intention to sail on to Sourabaya where they could sell the boat, but they were told by the captain of the "Van Riebeck" that the tides were too strong between Bali and Lombok for their

SHANGHAI PEACE CONFERENCE.

Chiang Kai-shek Speaks.

A BREAK DOWN?

Nanking, Yesterday.

The National Government's delegates to the Shanghai Peace Conference have returned to the capital, and the date of their return to Shanghai is not fixed.

This morning, Chiang Kai-shek criticised very strongly the conference proceedings, and stated that the Cantonese delegates' proposals for the reorganisation of the Government and the Party were unacceptable to the National Government, as they were contradictory to the fundamental principles of the Kuoimintang. "If the Canton delegates were really sincere, they should unconditionally abolish the so-called Canton Government, go to Nanking and co-operate with the National Government."

Chiang Kai-shek declared that his personal interests might be sacrificed, but the provisional constitution and the Party constitution must be upheld at all costs.

He also announced that Huhannin had recently demanded not only his (Chiang Kai-shek's) resignation, but his deportation and exile. Chiang Kai-shek declared:

"As a responsible official of Government I'll continue to carry out my duties in spite of malicious attacks from such irresponsible quarters."—Reuter.

Canton, Yesterday.

The members of the National Government strongly support the stand taken by the Canton Delegates that the National Government should insist on Chiang Kai-shek's resignation as a first step toward coming to a peace settlement.

small boat to go through. They eventually sold the boat to the captain, and paid their passage to Sourabaya and went with him.

"We landed at Sourabaya about the 17th and stopped there as the guests of the immigration authorities. Then the British Consul there got us a passage to Singapore on the "Penrith Castle" and we arrived in Singapore at about 10.15 in the morning."

The man called Jones had been left behind in Sourabaya and he was waiting to get a passage back to Australia.

The two men stated that they had had plenty of food and water, and therefore were not in any want.

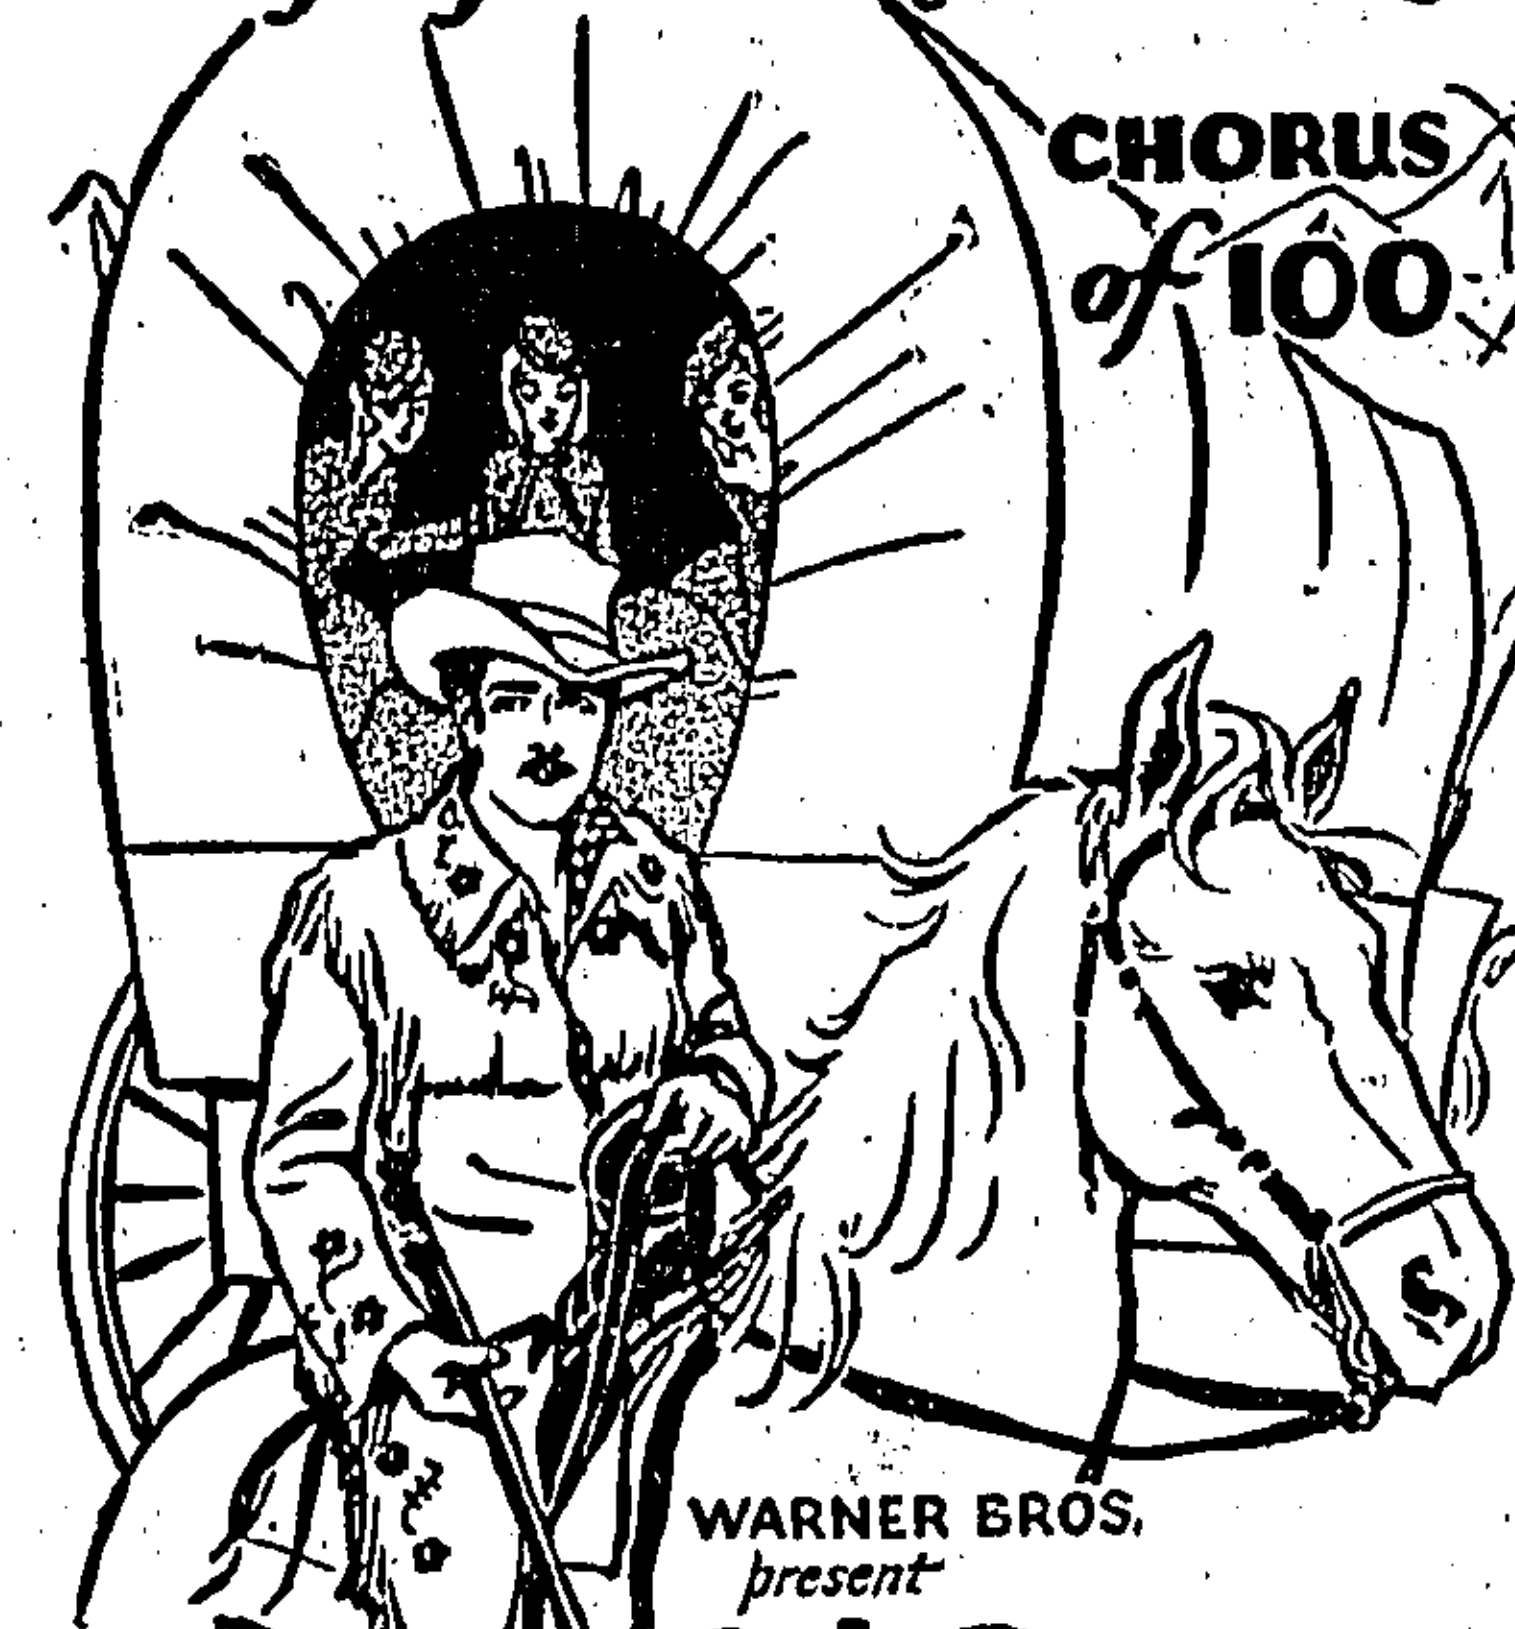

During the storm one of them had to steer while the other had to bail. Jones unfortunately could not do anything as he was lying sick at the bottom of the boat.

The two men will be sent to the Sailors' Institute and their intention is either to join a boat as part of the crew and go anywhere, or else work their passage in a boat to England.
